

What is KA-WLAN?

KA-WLAN is a free Internet service for Karlsruhe available in numerous public places. Whether using a smartphone, tablet or laptop – you can surf the Internet at no charge at these locations, for as long as you like and with no limits on the volume of data. The number of hotspots is continually increasing as well. The latest map and further information can be found at: www.ka-wlan.de

It couldn't be easier

No registration is required for KA-WLAN. Simply connect your mobile device with the "KA-WLAN" network and you can start surfing straight away, but in this case the connection is unencrypted.

KA-sWLAN – encrypted public WLAN

KA-sWLAN enables you to surf securely when using the public WLAN service. KA-sWLAN is available wherever KA-WLAN is provided. Once you've registered online, KA-sWLAN establishes an encrypted connection to the public WLAN's access point, similar to the system you're familiar with at home. This keeps your sensitive data safe from external access. Find out more at: www.ka-wlan.de/info.html

Use BADEN-WLAN for surfing the Internet in the wider region too

Other public WLAN services compatible with KA-WLAN have been set up in the Baden region under the name of BADEN-WLAN, also providing unencrypted access without registration. KA-sWLAN and BADEN-sWLAN users only require one account for all of the participating cities, towns, communities, and institutions. Find more information on BADEN-WLAN at www.baden-wlan.de

By the way: with the KA-WLAN account, you can also use the WLAN offers in Mannheim (MA-WLAN), Germersheim (GER-WLAN), Landau (LD-WLAN) as well as offers available in the trams and tram-trains of AVG Public transport company (KVV-WLAN) in the respective secure variant.

KA-WLAN and KA-sWLAN are also available at the new tunnel tram stops.
